Security: Another Star has used and will continue to use reasonable endeavors to protect personal information against loss, alteration or any form of unlawful use. Where possible, personal information will be encrypted and stored on a virtual private server that is secured by means of industry standard protection measures. A strictly limited number of people, i.e. those people that must have access to personal information for the purpose of their job, have access to personal information. If and to the extent personal information will be stored in a cloud infrastructure provided by third party cloud providers, these providers will be bound by written contract to process personal information provided to them only for the purpose of providing the specific service to Another Star and to maintain appropriate security measures to protect this personal information. Another Star strives to make limited use of paper files which contain personal information. If the use of paper files cannot be avoided such paper files are stored in a closed cabinet and are destroyed in accordance with the applicable retention terms.

Data Breaches: Another Star will protect the personal information it processes against loss and unlawful processing. If despite such protection a data breach occurs, Another Star will report such data breach to the appropriate regulatory authorities where it leads to a considerable likelihood of serious adverse effects on the protection of personal information, if it has serious adverse effects on the protection of personal information, or if otherwise advisable or required by law. The data breach will also be reported to the affected individuals if it is likely to adversely affect their privacy or if otherwise required by law. In order to ensure that a data breach will receive adequate attention and, if required, be reported, we have implemented a Data Breach Policy, which describes the procedure that must be followed in case of a data breach.

Data Processing Register: Another Star will record the details of each data process in a data processing register. New data processes will undergo a data protection impact assessment (“DPIA”) prior to their implementation if such data process is likely to result in a high risk of harm to the rights and freedoms of our Guests and Visitors. This DPIA process helps us determine if appropriate measures are taken to safeguard the personal information of our Guests and Visitors.

Data Retention: Another Star will retain personal information only for the period necessary to fulfill the purposes for which it has been collected, i.e. 3 years from the later of the Guest’s stay, , unless a longer retention period is required (e.g. to respond to incident information requests during the statutory claim period) or permitted by law (which is typically the case in the context of Another Star’s obligations under tax law). During this period you may request to have your details removed from our files by sending an e-mail to privacy@anotherstar.com.

In this regard, we have followed due diligence and entered into contractual agreements as required by applicable data protection laws, including where appropriate EU or UK model clauses, with the receiving parties. Our contracts impose obligations on the receiving parties to ensure appropriate technical and organizational measures are implemented and maintained at all times to prevent the unauthorized and unlawful processing of personal information, and the accidental loss or destruction of, or damage to, personal information, consistent with our obligations under applicable data protection laws. Please contact us if you wish to receive more information on the specific safeguards we have implemented to ensure an adequate level of data protection regarding such transfers.
